LIVERPOOL DEPRESSION REFLECTED IN COTTON PIT

ibash ..... isconsin Central...

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The cotton mar-ket was dull and heavy today because the weakness at Liverpool was explainselling orders from this side, depressing sentiment there in connection with the general belief that the crop will prove a record breaking one, which is still causing spinners to hold out of the market and inducing liquidation and selling operations by continental operators. These cables confirm the belief that the market here was manipulated late yesterday to facilitate liquidation by the clique at Liverpool.

Trading continues largely local and confined to the trade interests and professional operators, with about the only support coming from the clique and occasional covering of shorts by the scalping contingent and Southern operators. The maximum decline this morning extended to 13 points on September, and 16 to 12 points on the rest of the list with September selling down to 9.75, October 9.62, December 9.58, and January 9.58. The market railied a little in the 9.58. The market rallied a little in the later trading and closed dull at the de-
